

2nd Conflict, Change, Cooperation – International PhD Student Conference

University of Szeged

Szeged, Hungary

Program

27 March 2020

09:00 – Registration

10:00 – 10:30 Opening Speeches

10:30 – 11:15 ‘Practices of Nation Building in Ottoman Balkans: from Ethnic Mapping to Everyday Violence.’ Plenary Lecture by Dr. Gábor Demeter, Associate Research Fellow, Hungarian Academy of Sciences, Research Centre for the Humanities, Institute of History, Budapest

11:15 – 11:20 Quick break

Section A – Chair: Dr. Péter Vukman, Associate Professor of Department of Modern History and Mediterranean Studies, University of Szeged

11:20 – 11:35 A1 László Ambrus (Eszterházy Károly University): Torn between two nations – Loyalty Issues of Hungarian Immigrants in the United States in 1917–1918

11:35 – 11:50 A2 Luka Pejić (University of Osijek): Subversion and Banditry in Croatia at the End of the long Nineteenth Century

11:50 – 12:15 A3 Ádám Török (Pázmány Péter Catholic University): The Counter-Revolutionary Uprising of the Ludovica Academy in Hungary (24 June 1919)

12:15 – 12:30 A4 Marko Milošev (Central European University): Nation-building and Violence: Proto-Fascist Movements and the Yugoslav State in the 1920s

12:30 – 13:00 Discussion

13:00 – 14:30 Lunch break

Section B – Chair: Dr. Péter Ákos Ferwagner, Associate Professor of Department of Modern History and Mediterranean Studies, University of Szeged

14:30 – 14:45 A5 Narita Deliana-Florentina (West University of Timișoara): L’influence et l’apport des états européens dans la déstabilisation politique et sociale du Niger, d’Érythrée et de Syrie, présentée dans le roman Mur Méditerranée de Louis Philippe Dalembert

14:45 – 15:00 A6 Dorottya Mihályi (University of Szeged): Le rôle des voyageurs dans le projet de la construction de l’État

15:00 – 15:15 A7 Olga Gaidai (Black Sea Petro Mohyla University): Collecting as an Artistic Representation of the Nation (on the example of Sugar Factory Kharitonenko)

15:15 – 15:45 Discussion

Section C – Chair: Dr. Krisztián Bene, Associate Professor, Director of Institute of Romance Studies, University of Pécs

15:45 – 16:00 A8 Amalia Maria Bolcu (West University of Timișoara): Des chevaliers de Charlemagne aux mercenaires du XIXe siècle

16:00 – 16:15 A9 Michał Balogh (Jagellonian University): Le patrimoine sauvé. Les collections de Rapperswil dans l'historiographie du 20ème siècle dans le contexte des recherches sur l'émigration polonaise de la fin du 18ème siècle

16:15 – 16:30 A10 Andrea-Roxana Dobrescu (West University of Timișoara): La guerre franco – prussienne, une traduction littéraire: Les Soirées de Médan

16:30 – 17:00 Discussion

17:00 – 17:10 Coffee break

Section D – Chair: Dr. Péter Bencsik, Assistant Professor of Department of Contemporary History, University of Szeged

17:10 – 17:25 A11 Cengiz Ergün (University of Szeged): A Part of Ottoman Centralization Policy: Travel Permits and their Samples until the 20th century.

17:25 – 17:40 A12 Olga Kuznetsova (Saint Petersburg State University): The National Question, Monarchism and the State in the Political Views of the Russian Emigrant Sergei Prokopovich

17:40 – 17:55 A13 Kutse Altın (University of Szeged): Tayyib Gökbilgin and Historiography of Early Republican Turkey

17:55 – 18:10 A14 Rafał Czapla (University of Silesia): Economic Implications of the Versailles Treaty and Building National Economies in Central Europe

18:10 – 18:40 Discussion

19:00 – 22:00 Dinner

28 March 2020

Section E – Chair: Dr. Andrea Kökény, Assistant Professor of Department of Modern History and Mediterranean Studies, University of Szeged

09:30 – 09:45 A15 Kamil Szadlowski (Jagellonian University): Allons enfants de la Patrie, le jour de gloire est arrivé – Political and consciousness changes of the French Nation in the 1870s

09:45 – 10:00 A16 Mortaza Firuzi (University of Szeged): An overview of Mehmet Akif Ersoy's ideal generation in Asım

10:00 – 10:15 A17 Terézia Podhhajská (Comenius University): Slovenian National Identity as Part of Yugoslav Identity or as its Contradiction?

10:15 – 10:30 A18 Şeref Türkmen (National University of Public Service): Sitting up with the Dead: The Role of the Second Meşrutiyet in the Transition Process from Monarchy to Republic

10:30 – 11:00 Discussion

11:00 – 11:10 Coffee break

Section F – Chair: Dr. Krisztián Csaplár-Degovics, Senior Research Fellow, Hungarian Academy of Sciences, Research Centre for the Humanities, Institute of History, Budapest

11:10 – 11:25 A19 Balázs Balatoni (University of Szeged): The Role Experts in the Formation of British foreign-policy making in Southeastern Europe in the early 20th century

11:25 – 11:40 A20 Anastas Bezha (University of Szeged): Austro-Hungary and the Albanian Project. A Comparative case study: Nation-building or Colonization?

11:40 – 11:55 A21 Jarmo Gombos (University of Szeged): The Birth of Independent Finland, 1899 – 1919

11:55 – 12:10 A22 József Kádár (University of Szeged): A Unique Chapter of the Middle East settlement after World War I – The creation of Transjordan

12:10 – 12:40 Discussion

12:40 – 14:00 Lunch break

Section G – Chair: Dr. Ágnes Tamás, Research Fellow of Department of Contemporary History, University of Szeged

14:00 – 14:15 A23 Katalin Váradi (University of Debrecen): Die Wurzeln der Änderungen im 20. Jahrhundert, also die großen Konflikte, Änderungen und Kooperationen der 1870er Jahre aus der Sicht der Österreichischen-Ungarischen Monarchie (die Balkankrise 1875-78, der Berliner Kongress und der Zweibund)

14:15 – 14:30 A24 Benjámín Dávid – Ákos Kőrös (University of Szeged – Szent István University): How to Understand the Effects of Human Casualties in the First World War?

14:30 – 14:45 A25 Charles Barton (University of Belgrade): High Commissioner Bristol's Implementation of Wilsonian Internationalism in Asia Minor and its Shortcomings

14:45 – 15:00 A26 Tomek Korban (Jagellonian University): The Polish – Bolshevik War in the light of „The Polish Daily and Soldiers' Daily” between 1945 and 1989

15:00 – 15:30 Discussion

15:30 – Ending the conference

16:00 – Sightseeing in Szeged (optional)